Time is running out for ancient woodland

Demand better protection for ancient woodland this autumn.

One of the UK's most important habitats is disappearing before our eyes. Right now over 700 ancient woods are under threat from housing, roads, quarries and HS2.

Ministers have the power to save hundreds of ancient woods and trees.

Spread the word about trees

Do you love talking? We need volunteers with proven experience of public speaking and presenting to help us showcase our work. Could you inspire local communities and spark a connection between people and trees?

Rotary challenge takes root

Rotary club members in Great Britain and Ireland have been challenged to plant 47,000 trees (one for each member). That's the equivalent of a forest the size of 100 football pitches springing up!
